1. Donations

The Library Executive Director and/or his/her designee reserve the right to decline any financial donation, gift, bequest or other contribution (collectively “Donation”) as well as the right to determine how a Donation will be credited and recognized. The Library encourages unrestricted gifts. The Library will be evaluated a restricted Donation to determine if it is consistent with the Library’s mission statement.

Donations become the sole property of the library, and the Library assumes the right to determine a Donation’s use, maintenance and disposition.

2. Tax Deductions

The library is not responsible for establishing or verifying the value of a Donation. The Library does not determine any tax consequences of a Donation.
